A divorce occurs every 13 seconds, according to Wilkinson & Finkbeiner Family Law Attorneys.

With almost 50% of all marriages ending in divorce, the demand for professionals, products and services is tremendous. With that in mind, DivorceForce has created THE optimal online destination to connect people with a wide selection of professionals, brands, and consumer resources needed throughout the stages of this transformative process.

Although divorces have recently hit a 50-year low, the Institute for Family Studies predicts pent-up demand is set to increase exponentially in 2021 and 2022. Secure your spot to market to this key audience today, as the need for divorce-related services is projected to be in high demand. Lock in our special sponsorship prices now, before they increase February 28.

Sponsorship Banner

Allow us to design your sponsorship banner, or feel free to use your own creative services.

All banners will be visible to every reader under your chosen category, as well as search results for said category. For example, all Financial blogs and articles will prominently feature the banner of that particular sponsor. Each search under that category will also put your organization on full view. If you have chosen the ProConnect home page—a prime spot for any sponsor—every user that begins to search for a professional in his or her respective area will see your banner front and center!

Email advertising and social media sponsorships also available.

Perhaps the most integral component of the divorce process is choosing a lawyer. While who you select depends largely upon your individual situation, the complexities involved, and your financial wherewithal, there are certain considerations across the board.

Considerations are a great place to start, as is searching the database of lawyers in your area, reading client reviews, feedback found on community divorce forums, and individual case studies. While the pool of prospects may seem overwhelming to start, it's vital to narrow down your list, ideally, about three potential candidates, to schedule initial consultations with.
